

THURSDAY.....JULY 1, 1880.

FOR PRESIDENT,

JAMES A. GARFIELD,
Of Ohio.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

CHESTER A. ARTHUR,
Of New York.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The Oregon rivers are rising.

The Jesuits are being driven out of France.

Chicago has nearly half a million population.

Eugenie has embarked from Capetown for England.

The California and Nevada delegates called on Gen. Hancock in New York Tuesday.

The mortality in New York is great. Tuesday 232 died, of whom 111 were infants. The weather continues hot and sultry.

The bodies of those lost by the burning of the steamboat Seawanhaka continue to be found and identified.

The Leadville extension of the Denver & Rio Grande railway was completed to Malta yesterday, three miles from Leadville. Cars will be running into Leadville within ten days.

The Chinese army have occupied Khand, and the Russians are retiring upon Ash. Reliable reports have been received that some Russian troops were defeated at Kischurgan, losing much ammunition and supplies. The Chinese have reached Gulcha.

Generals Pope and Hatch had a conference in regard to the distribution of troops in Southern New Mexico. They agreed to scatter soldiers in small detachments over the entire exposed territory and to give General Buell 900 men for active service.

The newspaper reporters at Cincinnati dubbed Jim Hagerman "General."

Carl Schurz will take the stump for Garfield and Arthur.

The Tuscarora Times-Review has entered upon its sixth volume. It has the Journal's best wishes for continued prosperity.

Rev. T. Dewitt Talmage, the celebrated Brooklyn preacher, has accepted the offer made him by a prominent manager, to visit California this summer for the purpose of delivering a series of lectures. He will start westward early in July, visiting all principal cities en route.

The San Francisco charter is completed, and the contract for publishing the same has been awarded to the Chronicle at $6,750 and to the Examiner at $2,240. The Chronicle was the highest bidder, but the Board of Freeholders maintained that the cheapest is not always the best. The charter election will be held September 8th next.

Fast Mail Between New York and San Francisco.

It is thought that the result of the conference of the superintendents of railway mail service which proposed a fast mail between New York and Chicago and connections for San Francisco, will be the adoption of the suggestions of the superintendents. The proposition is to have a special train of the New York Central road leave New York in the morning in time to catch the train at Toledo which now leaves two hours before its arrival, the delay of the first train being occasioned by stoppages which the fast mail train would not make. At Toledo the mails will be sent through to Chicago so that all mails leaving there after six A. M. can reach San Francisco twenty-four hours ahead of present time.

The Next World's Fair.

Twelve million dollars is a good deal of money to raise, but this is the sum decided to be necessary for making the great World's Fair, which is to be held in New York in 1883, a success. Under the Act of Congress, the corporations, 109 in number, besides two Commissioners from each State and Territory and the District of Columbia, are permitted to issue bonds to raise the required amount. No site for the Fair buildings has yet been selected although it is thought Manhattan Island, north of the Central Park, will be fixed upon as offering more room than can readily be obtained elsewhere. Twenty millions of visitors are calculated upon, which would realize sufficient money to pay expenses and reimburse the bondholders.

Pension Claims Pending—Large Increase Since the Passage of the Arrears Bill.

Over thirty-two thousand Congressional letters were written by the Pension Bureau in answer to inquiries concerning pension claims during the session just expired. Claims for pension pending before the department have increased in the last fourteen months at the rate of at least 5,000 a month. These unsettled claims are now more than double the number at the date of the passage of Arrears of Pensions Act in January, 1879. There are now pending in the office at least 280,000 claims. During the six months preceding the passage of the Arrears act—that is, from July 1, 1878, to January 1, 1879,—the number of claims filed per month did not exceed 1,250 invalids' and widows' claims together. During the seven months since the passage of the act this average has been at least 8,500 per month. It is impossible, with present facilities of the Pension Bureau, to dispose of more than 2,500 of these cases per month, so that these claims are now accumulating at the rate of 5,000 or 6,000, and it would take, Commissioner Stanley says, many years to dispose of the claims now pending.

Important Railroad Connection.

A railroad connection of special importance certain mining interests in Utah and Nevada, was made on the evening of June 23d. The Salt Lake Tribune, which is doing a great work for Utah Territory, thus describes the benefits to be conferred by the road.

The last rail on the Utah Southern Extension was laid last evening, connecting Frisco with Salt Lake City, and the train which leaves this morning will land passengers and mails in the Bonanza City. This is an event which all the citizens of Utah will hail with delight. It is a big thing. The road has crept away almost noiselessly until it has penetrated the wilderness for 225 miles; it has passed the region which before it was a terror to cross because of the heat and the sand of Summer, and the storms of Winter. It leaves but a space of ninety miles to be traveled by wagon to Pioche, it makes the journey to Silver Reef on a pleasure trip of a night in a coach and a day in a car, it strikes at convenient distances thirty or forty of the most promising mining districts that we know anything about, it connects with abundant coal fields, and its southern terminus is but a few miles removed from a coal and iron region that will give Utah prosperity when the most pretentious ruins are possibly abandoned.

Claims Jumpers Jumped.

We find the following in the Eureka Leader of June 24th;

Quite an amusing claim-jumping episode occurred on Prospect Mountain last evening, the main points in which are too good to lose. It appears that the assessment work on the claim in question had been left undone at the eleventh hour, and a party from whom the property had been previously jumped determined to rejump it. With this object in view, he equipped a couple of able-bodied men with rifles, shotguns, pistols and other life-destroying weapons, who, with a supply of grub, took up their residence in a cabin at the mine. Last evening a mild-eyed, unobtrusive-looking stranger called at the cabin and asked for a drink of water. The suspicious twain who had charge of the armory told him to go into the cabin and help himself, and it is needless to say that he did as requested in a most unexpected manner. Finding himself master of the situation, he corralled the arms, and, drawing a bead with a Henry rifle on the jumpers, quietly motioned them to vacate, which they incontinently did, leaving the stranger and a companion, who emerged from the brush, sole possessors of the ground. The surprise was so great that the jumpers fled the mountain, and have not yet mustered courage enough to go back for their grub and belongings.

In the vaults of the Sub-Treasury in New York there were piled up, ten days ago, 612 tons of new coined silver dollars. This inconvenient treasure occupies a vault which is 47 feet long, 27 feet wide and twelve feet high. In the same vault are stored 130½ tons of gold, worth $65,000,000.

The Republican Congressional Campaign Committee receive encouraging advices from all sections of the country as to the foundation of Garfield clubs, and of a determination to make the campaign a warm one.

Oregon's population is shown by the census to be about 150,000. Portland has about 20,000, including 4,000 Chinese.

The Savage Mining Company has levied an assessment of $1 per share, delinquent August 3d.

THE NARROW-GAUGE.

A Few Men of Stockton Determine to Build a Road to Nevada.

Another meeting of the citizens of Stockton was held last week to discuss the narrow-gauge Bodie railroad project, but there appear to be only a few men in that town far-sighted enough to take hold of the matter in earnest. The attendance was small, consisting of those who had subscribed to the capital stock. The Mail says:

The Committee on Subscriptions reported having received $56,000 in all. After this report was received J. D. Peters offered his resignation as a member of the committee, stating that he was tired of soliciting subscriptions from men who return insult for importunity. The very men who would be benefitted most by this road seemed to take the least interest in it. As for him, he would do no more, except, in company with a few others, to build the road independently of the people of Stockton. He would be one of ten to build the road, but they would not bring it to Stockton. "There is energy here," continued Mr. Peters, "but it is confined to a few. Why are not the people here to-night in a crowd to help along this thing? If it was any other town but Stockton, you'd see men flocking to the meeting and offering to subscribe to the stock, if it was only a few dollars apiece. But the Stockton merchants are even now leaning against posts out there in the street and sending boys up here to peek in and see what we are doing, so that they can make something out of the enterprise on the outside. I will be one of the ten to build this road, but it must not come here if it has to end in —. I want the people here to build a high fence around the town and caulk up the cracks, so that nobody can even look in. We'll take the road twelve or fifteen miles below here, and build a switch up to the Farmers' Union Warehouse. If Davis can show us that he can build the road for $15,000 a mile and can place the bonds, we will build the road. I want to make money out of this thing, and I'll weld a ring so strong that nothing can break it. We'll beat those fellows who are waiting to speculate on the real estate when the road is started. Real estate and rents will advance fifty per cent. when it is known that this road is going to be built."

President Davis, of the Nevada & Oregon road, said it did not make any difference to him whether the Stockton people built the road or not. "The road would be built, anyway. "But mark my word," he said emphatically, "if the Stockton people let this opportunity pass, the road will be started inside of two months and Stockton will be left out in the cold." If the people took hold of this proposition as they should, the cars could be running to the Big Trees this Fall. Business enough could be got from that much of the road alone to make it pay. He has a plan of building the road over the snow-line on the mountains which was cheaper and better than any plan yet. It was to elevate the track above the snow-level on heavy trestle-work.

Mr. Peters suggested that those who had subscribed double the amounts of their subscription, and began by doubling his own.

Judge Budd followed, saying: "I'll double up. I don't care a — for Stockton; I'm going in to make money."

Mr. Peters asked President Davis if the money could be got on the bonds without delay. "You can get it in thirty days," was the reply.

Andrew Simpson, Sperry of the flouring mill, Mayor Hyatt and Hart & Thrift doubled their subscriptions. Hart said he would treble his, if necessary. The total subscription was swelled to $85,000.

Patrick Kearney the Oregon pioneer, who in 1862 threw into the sea a bag of gold, the hard earnings of many years, to rescue a little girl from drowning, is now at the Skagit mines, still hard at work. He says that he doesn't regret the loss of the gold.

Republican Rally.

Arrangements have been made for a grand Republican rally at the theatre on Friday evening, upon which occasion Gov. Woods will be the principal speaker. The ladies are respectfully invited.

Base Ball.

The differences between the Carson and Reno ball clubs have been settled, by the Carsonites allowing the Renos to name Carroll's place in the game. Our boys think an unfair advantage has been taken, but they will play, even if they have to concede every point—except Carroll as pitcher. By rights the game ought to be played here and Carroll ruled out. The Eureka club exposed Carson's reasons for challenging them to play for $1,000 a side, by showing that it had the four experts engaged to play as Carsonians! The same spirit still exists, it seems. But the troubles have been settled, and our boys will proceed to make it warm for the ruralists next Sunday.

Roll of Honor.

The following is the roll of honor of the Huffaker school, District No. 9, for the month of June. Embezzlement.

In the Justice Court yesterday H. E. Chatfield was on trial for embezzlement, it being alleged that he sold some furniture belonging to John Bowman and kept the money. He was convicted and Judge Young will pass sentence this morning.

A Change.

Mr. Geo. Simpson has purchased Buckley's stock of groceries, etc., and in a few days will remove his present stock to Buckley's store, and will then be prepared to supply the public with almost everything good in the eating line. Simpson's will be a good place to trade.

Donald McKay has picked about fifty pounds of strawberries from his vines so far this season, and has about ten times as many more yet to pick. We didn't taste 'em so we won't say whether they are good or bad.

Capt. Griffin has eight men at work in the Griffin mine, beyond Lemmons'. A tunnel is being put in to cut the ledge at a depth of 400 feet.

The ore taken from the "back ledge" in the J. & K. was richer in copper than anything else.

Some Comstock mining sharps are going to visit the Pyramid mines next week.

There are two cows in the pound—a large red one and a white spotted one.

Remarks About Reno and Reno Mines.

Joe Wasson, the correspondent of the San Francisco Stock Report, writes to his paper the annexed account of his observations in this vicinity, during his recent visit:

Reno, Nevada, is
A GOOD ILLUSTRATION OF WHAT CAN BE DONE BY A PROPER USE OF WATER.

On a rough and repulsive landscape in a very few years. It seems but yesterday when the town consisted chiefly of a toll-bridge, stage station and a few Pintes and Washoe Indians. A small city has been burned down, and re-built since on an improved basis. Several large ditches or canals have been brought from the upper Truckee and improvements in buildings soon take on ornamental airs through the increasing vegetation. Reno, during the past year or two, has had its little mining excitement, and to fulfill a promise made to an old-time Humboldt acquaintance, I stopped over a day to visit the scene of the same. Tom Julien was the bonanza man in that enterprise, and with Judge Marshall, also interested, I had a good time out in the hills north of and in sight of town, for several hours. The Com. Esmeralda property was listed on the Big Board, but doubtless, by mistake, the developments not being far enough advanced to justify it. The geological and mineralogical formation of the district is but a continuation north of the great volcanic upheaval or overflow characteristic of the Comstock, Bodie, Aurora, &c. It is chiefly all one common rock, being trachyte, with spots of basalt. The fissures everywhere are fractures in the rock, with no contact walls, as found in the primitive slates, granites, etc., of the main range. These fractures were FILLED BY THERMAL ACTION.

The Comstock was the grand geyser of the series so far as developments have proven. Bodie ranked second, and I sometimes think that Mt. Braly at Aurora will come in on the homestretch a neck ahead of all. Everywhere throughout this vast region of volcanic debris, there are deposits of quartz and mixtures that lure the prospector, and even cause capital to take a hand. I describe these things as the residue or slopping over of skim milk, of which the Comstock, &c., &c., were the cream. However, as lean and hungry hogs have been known to fatten upon skim milk, so there may be a better living for some of the many long-nosed roosters of San Francisco in the Reno mines than they now enjoy, providing they have a little capital left to set up machinery on the banks of the Truckee, and run it judiciously. Surely, if my friend Tom is not quite self-deceived, there is the basis of a paying business in the dozen Com. Esmeralda claims, one of which he has a claim over a shaft 100 feet in depth, with a crosscut west and a drift north, each of equal extent. The crop-pings are bold and broad, and the vein matter abundant with depth, providing the metal is sufficient in quantity. The vein itself is oxidized and porous, the decomposed pyrites of iron lending a reddish tinge to everything. Some tests have resulted satisfactorily, but without sampling everything across and at length by the ton, it were useless, I think, to pass final judgment upon it. It would require but little money to do this, when solid conclusions could be reached. If, as Mr. Julien declares, the whole mass would go $20 per ton, it were worth while for men of means to take hold of it, for the facilities and accessibilities are so satisfactory that operations could be carried on cheaply and at all seasons. His idea is to simply set up a battery and Prue concentrator, and ship the concentrates to San Francisco. The assays show silver as well as gold; there is considerable sulphuretted iron; otherwise the stuff is free of base combinations. J. G. Law has a shaft down 60 feet on a claim near the Julien property, with prospects not unlike it. Two miles northwest, in the same formation, Judge Marshall has run 500 feet of tunnel, of a crosscut nature, in which there are indications of similar veins. I did not go to any other of the works in view throughout the district. Quite down in a flat east of Marshall's tunnel, an Eastern company spent over $100,000 in machinery and work the past year or two, all to no purpose, from report. I have yet to see any paying mines similarly located. The paying ores seem to always go for the higher portions of districts. The machinery of the "Emma" (ominous name) is all moved away except the several pump columns, which remain to tell the tale of about as absurd an operation as one ever sees. Thus far Reno has not been a success as a mining centre. There is the Peavine district, looming up as a mountain just west of the district in question. I am informed it is a different formation, carrying rich ores, but of a character so generally base or intractable that everybody seems afraid to touch them. In 1870 I had occasion to visit the "English company's" works, situated three miles northeast of town. It combines a dry-crushing and Stieffeldt roasting process, excepting the champagne attachment introduced at intervals by the "American" superintendent.

Fourth of July.

On Monday, the 5th of July, the W. T. U. will have a grand celebration at the Riverside Picnic Grounds. The following is the excellent programme arranged for the occasion: President of the Day, H. B. Cossett; Chaplain, Rev. W. E. Jenney; Reader of Declaration, Rev. Mr. Morgan; Reader of Poem, Miss Hattie Lewis; Recitation, Alfred Holladay; Orator, W. A. Walker; Grand Marshal, N. F. Jaques. These exercises will be varied by music by the band and a choir, the latter under the direction of Mrs. Greely. The fare for the round trip 50 cents. Everybody must look out for their own commissary department. The Car of Liberty is being prepared, with Miss Hattie Schooling as Goddess of Liberty. A good time is anticipated.

The north end stocks have strengthened up a little in the past few days.

Savings Bank Affairs.

J. P. McCord, the expert employed by Mr. Lake to make an examination of the resources and liabilities of the Reno Savings Bank, reports that at the close of business on the 23d, it stood as follows:

School for Girls.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the School for Girls. It will be seen that Bishop Whitaker has placed the tuition at a very low figure, and that all the rudiments of a common education are taught by experienced teachers.

Mr. McCord, the cashier of the bank at North East, Pennsylvania, who examined the Savings Bank books for Lake, says that they were as neatly and accurately kept as any he ever saw, and he took occasion to compliment Batchelder, Kinkead and Seymour Lake.

Dennis Kearney was a passenger on last night's train going west. He was interviewed by some forlorn looking stranger, probably a late arrival from the "old sod."

Wicked Carson! Next Sunday she has two base ball games, prize shooting, archery and races, and proclaim it with posters.

In connection with the base-ball clubs of our town, why can't our town boys organize an athletic club?

From three to six car loads of red-wood ties are arriving daily for the C & C railroad.

To the Public.

Reno, Nev., April 10, 1880.
We shall discontinue our banking and brokerage business on or about July 1, 1880. All persons indebted to us must settle their accounts in full before that date.

A National Bank Incorporation will succeed us (and occupy our present quarters or place of business.) All deposits in our hands at that date will be transferred to said incorporation.
